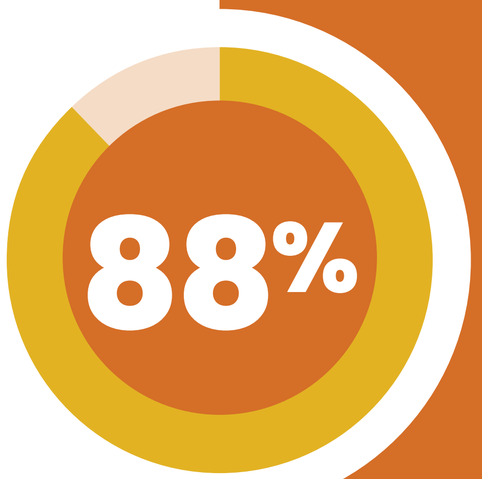
Mission and Brand

The Problem

The era of rapid technological advancements coupled with global recent events has exposed major challenges and propelled new initiatives to combat aging IT infrastructure in the public sector.



In a recent survey (2021) of 300 federal, state, and local government IT and program managers, 88% state they face significant challenges in their digital transformation efforts.

The key barriers include:

- security or data privacy concerns (33%)
- lack of available budget (30%)
- resistance to change from end users (28%)
- and lack of a skilled IT workforce to implement transformation (27%)

Common Shortfalls

Unfortunately, public agencies are continuously overwhelmed by inefficiencies in their infrastructure, technology, and communications.

Our clients often feel that their business problems and pain points are not well understood, nor simply solved with technology. Avero Advisors doesn't provide 'template' strategies, checkboxes, and unnecessarily expensive software. We develop resilient business solutions that also incorporate progressive technology where needed.

Competitors

Who are these companies, and how do they define themselves?

At Avéro Advisors, we go against the grain to deliver personalized services that are handcrafted for each individual client. We separate ourselves from the competition by being focused on delivering outcomes for the client, and staying away from how our competition is perceived.

No Agreed Upon Definition

We are a management advising firm that is heavy on technology. Our competition may describe themselves as 'IT consultants,' 'Software consultants,' 'ERP consultants,' but do not advise and guide clients the Avéro way.

Confusing Jargon

The term 'Information Technology (IT)' fails to properly describe the full range of services that Avéro Advisors offers. We focus on business strategies that support the individual needs of each client.

All Things to All People

Many competitors are large, and have multiple lines of business. Some tend to try and be all things to all clients. Some also resell hardware and software, harming their ability to be trustworthy in their advice and recommendations. We offer unbiased recommendations based on actual needs and are always in our clients' corner.

What Sets Us Apart

We take a comprehensive evaluation of the needs of leadership and provide strategic advisory services that help build intelligent organizations and streamline operations. To do this, we incorporate methods that address urgent, time-dependent needs while formulating long-term strategies that achieve service excellence.

We believe in establishing lasting, trust-based relationships that best display our commitment to our clients in getting the job done right the first time. We dedicate the time to get familiar with the current strategies in order to best determine how to modernize them. Rather than bulldozing previous efforts, we understand how much more effective developing a collaborative environment with current teams can be in supporting modernization efforts.

Mission

Avero Advisors is on a mission to modernize the way public agencies operate internally and interact with the public to make living day-to-day just a little easier. We're committed to solving complex technical and management problems for our clients that ultimately benefit citizens, with the most efficient use of the public's tax dollars.

From automated billing systems to streamlined interfaces with the government, we believe in a tomorrow where technology can improve the workday for public agencies and the needs of each citizen.

Core Values

Integrity

As stewards of the public, we believe in going beyond trustworthiness. We stand by our word for our clients to the best of our abilities. Our services must uphold doing the right thing and not just the easy thing.

Compassion

We view our clients as partners and treat each client with the care and respect they deserve. We employ empathy to understand their problems and consider their personal wins and losses as our own.

Imagination

We believe that best solutions incorporate creativity and a little magic into the process. Each problem deserves out-of-the-box thinking to find innovative digital strategies targeted for the future of tomorrow and not just today's needs.

Advocacy

Living by a rule of advocacy is more than just advocating for representation. It's about actively fighting for and protecting our clients' and our team's best interests.

Brand Character

The Modern and Compassionate Alchemist

"Success, in every case, comes from the alchemy of your health, your mind, your positive energy, and the real world situations you persistently improve..."
- James Altucher

A little wily, a little bit magic, Avéro Advisors embodies what it means to make solutions to complex problems feel as if they suddenly appear. There is a cooperative understanding that every project is a partnership, built on trust and empathy for each client's problem but with a commitment to get the job done, and done right.

Dedicated to success, the Modern and Compassionate Alchemist combines science, technology, and strategy to create handcrafted solutions specific to each problem and with the agility to confront them head-on. It isn't about making a name; it's about proving its possible. Committed to each client, the Modern and Compassionate Alchemist is a die-hard advocate for their partners, their team, and their clients and is a capable visionary of the times.

Language and Goals

Tone of Voice

Adaptable/Resilient

Every problem has a solution. We employ positive and uplifting tones to express compassion and resolution toward overcoming the variety of business needs of our clients.

Compassionate/Pleasant

We are peers to our clients. This means we speak clearly, simply, and with empathy so that we can best understand and support the needs of the leaders we work with.

Authoritative/Decisive

Our clients rely on our decisive action, knowing how to tackle a problem and confronting it head-on. Thus, we utilize courage, strength, and determination to find the appropriate resolutions.

Educated/Knowledgable

We are specialists in the field with the skills to overcome any client hurdles. We are expected to understand, analyze, and interpret highly technical data in a time-considerate manner.

Classy/Professional

We are not your typical 'IT solutions' company. We are a team of business professionals well equipped to communicate, support, and lead the public sector toward success.

Language and Key Phrases

Advisors guide and lead as peers.

Avéro Advisors doesn't sell software or hardware and we're not your typical IT company. We are innovative business process and technology modernization advisors that tackle complex and outdated technical strategies that benefit civic leaders better serve the public.

We don't just "consult" our clients. We "advise" as equals.

We don't just "consult" our clients. We take an active stance in improving their operations, solving pertinent problems and guiding them towards success. We "advise" as equals and promote a harmonious handoff to our clients' teams while achieving desired results.

We admit there is a little 'magic' that happens behind the curtain, but we offer full transparency in our processes and strategies. We believe in developing trust that promotes long-lasting relationships. To do this, we adamantly show respect, authenticity, and integrity to our clientele.

Testimonials

Clients naturally trust each other more than they trust a company or its marketing. Focusing on testimonials that highlight how the company has helped a client overcome hurdles or common pain points can help establish trust, but also include our compassion and expertise shown in each client experience.

...Technically strong, depth of knowledge and an ability to speak in a language management can understand. They don't use only industry terms. They took us through some discovery to make sure we got the scope right. This was incredibly important to the overall project.

Greg McLain
City Manager at City of Maryville, TN

Avèro is an excellent resource in the IT governance space. They are clear communicators, honest, and have a wide range of technical expertise."

Young Kim
Vice President - Global Alliance - Samsung Electronics

Avero Advisors has brought IT advancements to Blount County Government that were 30 years overdue. This modernization process could have been a lot more painful had it not been for the ability of Avero to build strong relationships that have endured through the entire process. This has been so important for our employees to embrace these changes and move forward with confidence in implementing multiple upgrades in a short time frame."

Mayor Ed Mitchell
Blount County, TN
